

Instructor: Date:

Learner: Regional Branch:

Program: Center:

CONTENT

- Let's Start! • Let's Explore! • Let's Practice! • Extension Activity • Target Words • Learning Points

Let's Start!

Men and women ... the same or different?

Learning Outcome

Describe routines and regular activities in a wider range of social and work contexts.

Ask your partner:

- Do you think men and women are mostly the same or mostly different?
- What kinds of tasks are you good at?
- What tasks are you not good at?

Can Do Statements

- I can talk about people's behavior, personality and habits.
- I can compare two things or people and describe the quality of an object or a person.
- I can talk about what is necessary.

Let's Explore!

Sally is writing an article about gender issues. This first part is about how men and women do things differently.

* "Gender" the behavioral, cultural, or psychological traits typically associated with one sex like male or female.

Instructions: Read the text aloud.

Most people believe that women and men should have the same opportunity to aspire to any work they want. This does not mean that they are identical. Some people think that women are more social while men are more practical. Recent studies show that men and women think differently, and each are better at different tasks.

Some feel that men are better at hitting targets with darts or arrows. They think that men can also find hidden objects in a picture more accurately than women. They say that men can look at an object and know more clearly how it will look if it rotates the other way. They feel women are going to have to work harder to do these things.

Many people say that women are faster than men at recognizing if things are similar or different. Women, they feel, are observant. They are quicker to notice if things disappear or are moved from one position to another. Some say that women are good at working with small objects. So, they feel that men have got to concentrate more on these tasks.

A conclusion is that men and women have to work together in order to do the best work.

Let's Practice!

What do women have to do? What do men have to do?

Instructions: Select all the sentences that talk about what is necessary.

1. Men can find hidden objects in a picture more accurately than women.
2. Men have got to concentrate more on tasks like working with small objects.
3. Women are quicker to notice if things disappear or moved from one position to another.
4. Women have got to concentrate more on tasks that involve numbers.

Let's Practice!

Are men and women distinct? What do you think?

Instructions: Read the text again and answer the questions.

1. According to the article, which sentence is true?
 - a. Men and women have identical brains.
 - b. Boys and girls are born with different brains.
 - c. When they are born, the brains of boys and girls are the same.
2. What sentence is a correct explanation for men and women being different?
 - a. The hormones in the body change they way men and women develop.
 - b. Men and women needed to work together to survive.
 - c. Their parents teach them to do different things.
3. Which adjectives are connected with early man?
 - a. Intuitive and creative.
 - b. Decisive and realistic.
 - c. Distinct and identical.

Extension Activity

Complete a T-chart showing perceived differences between men and women.

Instructions: Complete the following steps. Fill in the Self-Assessment.

- Draw a line dividing a large piece of paper in two.
- Draw a line at the top. Write the headings Men and Women above the line, one on each side. This is a T-graph.
- Talk to 10 people. Ask them how they see men and women. How are they different?
- Complete the T-chart with words, expressions or sentences on each side.
- Present your T-chart to the class.

Self-Assessment

Yes

No

I design a T-chart.

☐ ☐

I talk to 10 people about the differences between men and women.

☐ ☐

I present the T-chart.

☐ ☐

Target Words

- to aspire (verb): to work towards getting something e.g. Most people believe that both women and men should aspire to any work they want.
- opportunity (noun): chance e.g. Women and men should have the equal opportunity to do any work they want to.
- task (noun): job
e.g. Recent studies show that men and women think differently, and each are better at different tasks.
- to concentrate (verb): to think hard about doing one thing
e.g. So, they feel that men have got to concentrate more on these tasks.
- quicker (adjective): more rapid e.g. Women are quicker to notice if things disappear or are moved from one position to another.
- to rotate (verb): to move an object so it is pointing in a different direction e.g. Men can see an object and know more clearly how it will look if it rotates the other way.
- social (adjective): describes a person who enjoys talking to people e.g. Some people think that women are more social while men are more practical.
- observant (adjective): describes a person who notices small details e.g. Women are observant. They notice if something is different.
- target (noun): object aimed at in shooting practice
e.g. Men are better at hitting targets with darts or arrows.

Learning Points

Expressing What is Necessary

You can use certain expressions to talk about what is necessary to do in the future in order for something to happen.

- You have to ...
- You have got to ...
- I'm going to have to ...
- You need to ...

Examples:

- They feel women are going to have to work harder to do these things.
- So, they feel that men have got to concentrate more on these tasks.

Learning Points

Superlatives and Comparatives

You can use adjectives to compare things. These can be either:

Some adjectives change to different words in the comparative and superlative form.

With one syllable words, you add -er to the adjective to make the comparative form. You add -est to the adjective to make the superlative form.

With words of two or more syllables, you add the word more before the adjective or adverb in the comparative form. You add the most before the adjective or the adverb in the superlative form.

- short adjectives (generally one syllable in pronunciation, e.g. fast, tall, big, large, small, etc.), or
- long adjectives (generally two or more syllables in pronunciation, e.g. famous, expensive, beautiful, etc.)

There are different ways to use these adjectives for comparisons: two of these are comparatives and superlatives.

Comparatives: When you compare two things, you use comparatives.

Examples:

Are men better (than women) at hitting targets with darts or arrows?

Are women quicker (than men) to notice if things disappear or moved from one position to another?

Do women have to work harder (than man) to identify rotating items?

Superlatives: You can also use adjectives to compare one item with the rest of a group. These are called superlative adjectives.

Examples:

Are men the best at hitting targets with darts or arrows?

Men and women have to work together in order to do the best work.

Are concentration tasks the most difficult for men?

As you can see, comparatives and superlatives have their specific form:

For comparatives, we use -er for short adjectives and more + adjective for long ones.

For superlatives, we use the -est for short adjectives and the most + adjective for long ones.

