

Instructor: ..... Date: .....

Learner: ..... Regional Branch: .....

Program: ..... Center: .....

CONTENT

- Let's Start! • Let's Explore! • Let's Practice! • Extension Activity • Target Words • Learning Points

Let's Start!

The doctor is in!

Learning Outcome

Describe routines and regular activities in a wider range of social and work contexts.

Ask your partner:

- Do you think both men and women have equal opportunity to work in healthcare? Why or why not?
- Have you thought about working in healthcare? In what job?

Can Do Statements

- I can talk about personal qualities and family life.
- I can discuss experiences I've had or haven't had.
- I can compare two things or people and describe the quality of an object or a person.

Let's Explore!

In this article, Sally explores gender issues in the medical profession.

Instructions: Read the text aloud.

In 1849, American-born Elizabeth Blackwell graduated from medical school in Geneva and became the first woman doctor in history.

The medical profession is one of the best examples of a career field that includes more women now than it did before. There was a time when medicine was considered too time-consuming for a woman who wanted to have a family. As many women are now staying single longer and having families later in life, more women than before are choosing to become doctors. In the United States, approximately one-third of doctors are women today. Historically, women have been more involved in healthcare than men. They have provided nursing care, delivered babies and prepared home remedies for centuries. They have proven themselves to be patient and trustworthy caregivers. Men have figured more prominently in the written history of medicine because most of the old manuscripts found have been written by men, and because women weren't allowed into medical school until the mid-1800s.

Let's Practice!

Who has figured* prominently** in the history of medicine?

*The verb "to figure" is very often constructed in the Present Perfect tense.

**"Prominently" means a lot or regularly.

Instructions: Write the sentences in the negative form. Read the sentences aloud. Check your pronunciation with your instructor.

1. Women have been more involved in healthcare than men.
_____.
2. They have provided nursing care, delivered babies and prepared home remedies for centuries.
_____.
3. They have proven themselves to be patient and trustworthy caregivers.
_____.
4. Men have figured more prominently in the written history of medicine.
_____.

Let's Practice!

Sally compares men and women in medicine.

Instructions: Fill in the blanks with the words from the list: More women than before - more involved - more prominently - most of the

1. Women have been _____ healthcare than men.
2. _____ are choosing to become doctors.
3. Men have figured _____ in the written history of medicine.
4. _____ old manuscripts found have been written by men.

Extension Activity

Find out what countries have the most women doctors and what countries have the least.

Instructions: Complete the following steps. Fill in the Self-Assessment.

- Choose 10 different countries.
- Go online. Find out the percentage of female doctors in each country.
- Write your list in order from the country with the most female doctors (#1) to the country with the least (#10).
- Discuss your list with a partner. Together, try to explain the results.

Self-Assessment

Yes No

I do research on the Internet.

☐ ☐

I complete a list of countries.

☐ ☐

I order the list according to the percentage of female doctors.

☐ ☐

I discuss the list with a partner.

☐ ☐

Target Words

- the medical profession (noun): all the different types of doctors of medicine
e.g. The medical profession is one of the best examples of a career field that includes more women now than it did before.
- to stay single (expression): to not get married
e.g. Many women are now staying single longer and having families later in life.
- approximately (adjective): around, about e.g. In the United States, approximately one third of doctors are women today.
- caregiver (noun): someone who takes care of another person, such as a young child or an elderly person e.g. Women have proven themselves to be patient and trustworthy caregivers.
- nursing care (noun): assistance for people who need help for a variety of reasons (sickness, age, disability, etc.)
e.g. Women have provided nursing care for centuries.
- to figure (verb): to be part of something; to be recognized for something e.g. Men have figured more prominently in the written history of medicine.
- to be involved (expression): to participate in something e.g. Historically, women have been more involved in healthcare than men.

Learning Points

Present Perfect vs. Simple Past Tenses

You use the Present Perfect tense to talk about generalities from past which are relevant at present.

You use the Simple Past tense to talk about a finished action or event not connected to the present.

When you use the Present Perfect there is a connection between what happened in the past and now. You use time markers like for, since and ever with the Present Perfect.

When you use the Simple Past, the time is always past. You use time markers with the past like then, ago, yesterday, when I was... with the Simple Past. To form the Present Perfect tense, you use have/has + the past participle of the base form of the verb.

Examples:

- Historically, women have been more involved in health care than men.
- They have proven themselves to be patient and trustworthy caregivers.

Learning Points

Comparatives and Superlatives

You use comparative adjectives to compare yourself to another person.

You use a superlative adjectives to compare yourself or something to a group of people.

You can compare things using the words more (than) or less (than).

You can also use adjectives to compare things. Some adjectives change to different words in the comparative and superlative form.

With one-syllable words, you add -er to the adjective to make the comparative form. You add -est to the adjective to make the superlative form.

With words of two or more syllables, you add the word more before the adjective or adverb in the comparative form. You add the most before the adjective or the adverb in the superlative form.

| Adjective or Adverb | Comparative      | Superlative          |
|---------------------|------------------|----------------------|
| --                  | more             | the most             |
| --                  | less             | the least            |
| good                | better           | the best             |
| fast                | faster           | the fastest          |
| involved            | more involved    | the most involved    |
| prominently         | more prominently | the most prominently |
| accurately          | more accurately  | the most accurately  |

Examples:

- The medical profession is one of the best examples of a career field that includes more women now than it did before.
- Men have figured more prominently in the written history of medicine because most of the old manuscripts found have been written by men.

